IV. Stat. 15 & 16 Geo. 3. cap. 16. ſect. 1. Whereas the idleneſs and diſſipation by the length of time frequently ſpent in the poll at elections for members are productive of many evils, and of dangerous tendency to the freedom of election: in all caſes where the election cannot be determined upon view, and a poll demanded, the ſheriff or returning officer or officers, on every election, whenever upon the laſt or any former election the number of electors have exceeded four hundred, ſhall, before commencement of the poll appoint one deputy to take the poll under him or them, at ſame time, and in ſame court houſe, or if not convenient room therein, in the neareſt convenient place; and ſhall not, during ſuch election, adjourn for any longer time than from day to day, except from Saturday to Monday, unleſs with conſent of all the candidates; and every ſheriff and returning officer, and every deputy, ſhall, before he proceed to take the poll, take and ſubſcribe in open court, if required by any elector, the oath following, which any elector is impowered to adminiſter.

Oath by officer and deputy if required by any elector.

V. ſect. 2. Every returning officer, who ſhall have appointed a deputy, may from time to time during the poll, as he ſhall think proper, remove and appoint another deputy in his room; and ſuch deputy ſhall, upon notice given to him by the returning officer each day, cloſe his poll book, and deliver in the ſame immediately to ſaid officer, who ſhall tot up therefrom the number of votes polled on ſaid day for each candidate, and cauſe the tot thereof for each to be read aloud, and entered in his poll book in open court; and if ſuch deputy ſhall refuſe to deliver his poll book, when required by returning officer, or continue to take the poll after directed by him to ſtop, and before again directed by him to proceed, or after his deputation revoked, he ſhall forfeit five hundred pounds; (to be recovered by any perſon who will ſue in any courts of record, to and for the uſe of ſuch perſon ſuing) and every vote admitted by him after ſuch refuſal, direction to ſtop, or revocation, ſhall be null and void to all intents; but the perſon, who gave ſuch vote, is not thereby diſabled to give his vote at ſuch election before the ſheriff or other returning officer.

votes admitted after void;

but may be given before the officer.

VI. ſect. 3. Provided ſuch removal and new appointment of a deputy, and ſuch notices to cloſe the poll and deliver up the book, ſhall be made publickly

Such removal, appointment, and notice publick.

lickly and proclaimed in the place, where ſuch deputy reſpectively ſhall take the poll, by the ſheriff or under ſheriff, or ſome perſon appointed for that purpoſe by the ſheriff.

On riot poll not cloſed, but adjourned till diſturbance ceaſed;

VII. ſect. 4. If any perſon violently and outrageouſly diſturb the court or other aſſembly duly holden for the election, or interrupt the proceeding of the poll, ſuch diſturbance or riot ſhall not be any excuſe to the returning officer, nor afford him any pretence for cloſing the poll, or making a return; but the court, or other ſuch aſſembly, ſhall thereupon be adjourned for ſome convenient time, as the occaſion may require; and if neceſſary, further continued by adjournment, from time to time, till ſuch diſturbance ceaſed, when ſuch returning officer ſhall return, and again proceed on taking the poll; and

Voters if required ſhall declare if their freehold conſiſts in rent charge;

IX. ſect. 6. Whereas permitting perſons to vote by virtue of rent charges of a ſmall yearly value is a great inlet to perjury, and tends to deſtroy the freedom of elections; every perſon tendering his vote as a freeholder at any election, ſhall, before admitted to poll, declare, if required, whether his freehold conſiſts in rent charge; and no perſon ſhall have a right to vote, nor no rent charge under 20l. admitted.

VI. Eng. Stat. Glouc. 6 Edw. 1. cap. 10. Whereas it is contained in the ſtatute, that parceners, or two that hold in common, may not fourch by eſſoign after they have appeared, the ſame ſhall be obſerved where a man and his wife be impleaded.

In the circuit of the juſticers an eſſoign, de malo lecti, ſhall not be allowed for lands in the ſame ſhire, unleſs he that cauſed himſelf to be eſſoigned be ſick indeed; for if the demandant alledge that the tenant is not ſick, nor in ſuch plight, but that he may come before the juſticers, the exception ſhall be admitted. And if he can be ſo proved by inqueſt, the eſſoign ſhall be turned to a default, and ſuch eſſoign ſhall not lie in a writ of right between two claiming by one diſcent.

Eſſoign after day given.

VIII. Eng. Stat. Weſtm. 2. 13 Edw. 1. cap. 27. After ſuch time as any hath put himſelf upon inqueſt, one eſſoign ſhall be allowed at the next day, but at the other days, the taking of the inqueſt ſhall not be delayed by eſſoigns, whether he were eſſoigned before or no. Eſſoign lieth not becauſe any judgment is given thereupon, if the jurors come. Eſſoign lieth not becauſe the party was ſeen in court. Eſſoign of ultra mare lieth not, becauſe the party hath been eſſoigned of male veniendi. It lieth not becauſe the party hath eſſoigned himſelf to another day. It lieth not for that the plaintiff hath not found pledges. It lieth not becauſe the attorney was eſſoigned. It lieth not becauſe the party hath an attorney in the matter. It lieth not becauſe the eſſoigner confeſſeth that he is not in the king's ſervice. It lieth not becauſe the ſummons is not returned, or the party not attached, for that the ſheriff hath not returned non eſt inventus. It lieth not becauſe the party another time was eſſoigned de ſervitio Regis, and hath not ſent his warrant. It lieth not becauſe he was reſummoned in aſſize of Mort dancеſter or darrein preſentment. It lieth not becauſe ſuch one is not named in the writ. It lieth not becauſe the ſheriff hath a precept to diſtrain the party to come. It lieth not becauſe the biſhop was commanded to cauſe the party to come. It lieth not for that the term is paſſed. XLV. ſect. 4. Whereas in the river of Loughfoyle in the counties of Londonderry, Donegal, and Tyrone, ſalmon fiſh in the months of July and Auguſt are known to be in the greateſt plenty and higheſt ſeaſon: it ſhall be lawful for the proprietors of the ſeveral fiſheries in the ſaid river of Loughfoyle, and for the perſons employed by or acting under them, to continue to fiſh until the firſt day of September in every year henceforward.

Recital.

XLVI. Stat. 5 Geo. 3. cap. 7. ſect. 1. Whereas by an act paſſed in the third year of the reign of his preſent Majeſty king George the third, for the encouragement of the fiſheries of this kingdom, it is amongſt other things enacted, that every buſs or veſſel that ſhall be employed in the ſaid fiſheries, or whoſe owners ſhall be intitled to the bounty of twenty ſhillings per ton, given by the ſaid act, ſhall be a decked buſs or veſſel: and whereas in many parts of this kingdom, where harbours and ports are contiguous to the fiſhing ground, it may be more convenient to ſalt and cure on ſhore all ſuch fiſh as ſhall be taken, and the veſſels therefore employed in catching and taking ſaid fiſh, are in many places found to be more ſafe and commodious for the fiſhermen on board, by being partly decked and partly open;

Buſſes partly decked.

it is enacted, that the owners of all buſſes or veſſels which have been built ſince the commencement of the act 3 G. 3. or that ſhall be built after the commencement of this preſent act, which are in every other reſpect duly qualified according to the directions and the intent and meaning of the ſaid act, although they ſhall be partly decked and partly open, ſhall be intitled to the bounty given by the ſaid act, on compliance with the ſeveral other requiſites in the ſaid act mentioned, or ſuch of them as are not diſpenſed with by this preſent act.

XLVII. ſect. 2. And whereas a doubt has ariſen upon the words of the ſaid act, whether among other requiſites to intitle the owners of ſuch buſs or veſſel to the bounty given by the ſaid act, it may not be neceſſary for the owner, maſter, or chief officer of ſuch buſs or veſſel, to produce the journal of their proceedings at ſea, and to atteſt the ſame, and for the maſter of ſuch buſs or veſſel alſo to make ſuch oath before the collector of the cuſtoms, as is directed, by the ſaid act, to be made at the end of each voyage, every time that, and as often as, the ſaid veſſel comes into port, in order to land any of the fiſh taken by her off the ſaid port, by which great delay and interruption would be given to the fiſhing buſineſs, and eſpecially to ſuch perſons as are employed therein for the purpoſes of ſupplying the markets of Dublin with fiſh during the times of the fiſhing ſeaſon; for remedy whereof, and for explaining the ſaid act, it is declared and enacted, that the producing and atteſting the ſaid journal, and the maſter or chief officer of ſuch buſs or veſſel making ſuch oath before the collector of the port, and the officer of the cuſtoms certifying ſuch matters as are directed by the ſaid act, at the end of the fiſhing ſeaſon, ſhall be ſufficient within the intent and meaning of the ſaid act, for all the purpoſes therein mentioned. End of the fiſhing ſeaſon.

(2) And if any perſon ſhall wilfully ſwear falſely in any oath directed by this act to be taken, or ſhall corruptly procure any perſon to ſwear falſely in any of the ſaid oaths, every perſon being convicted of ſuch offence, ſhall incur all ſuch pains, penalties, and forfeitures, as perſons who commit, or corruptly procure or ſeduce any witneſs to commit wilful or corrupt perjury are now ſubject to by any law or ſtatute now in force in this kingdom. Swearing falſely.

XLVIII. ſect. 3. And whereas the penalty of five pounds, inflicted by the ſaid act upon any perſon who ſhall ſhoot any net for the taking of herrings in the day-time, and alſo the like penalty of five pounds, inflicted by the ſaid act, for any boats which ſhall go out to look for fiſh from ſun-ſet on Saturday night until after ſun-ſet on Sunday night, have not been found ſufficient to deter perſons from the ſame; it is enacted that every perſon who ſhall be guilty of any of the offences aforeſaid, ſhall, inſtead of the ſaid penalties, be ſubject for every ſuch offence to the penalty of ten pounds; and that ſuch penalty may be recovered by any perſon who will ſue for the ſame, within three months next after the offence committed, by civil bill before the juſtice of aſſize, at the aſſizes for the county where ſuch offender uſually lives or reſides, or at the quarter-ſeſſions to be held for the county of Dublin, if ſuch offender uſually reſides there; ſuch penalty, when recovered, to be to the uſe of the perſon ſo ſuing for the ſame. Fiſhing for herrings, &c. Additional penalty.
